EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Steven Gilliam on February 16, 2006.

The following two amendments to the application have been made:

I. Amendment to Claim 1.

MARKED COPY

Claim 1

A multipass parser implementation encoded on at least one computer-readable medium, the multipass parser implementation prey comprising: plural miniparsers each successively operable on a respective abstract syntax tree that corresponds to an input information encoding and that includes transformations of predecessor ones, [if any,]of the miniparsers, wherein respective ones of the miniparsers are limited to particular subsets of syntactic constructs to be parsed in the input information encoding.

CLEAN COPY

Claim 1

A multipass parser implementation encoded on at least one computer-readable medium, the multipass parser implementation prey comprising: plural miniparsers each successively operable on a respective abstract syntax tree that corresponds to an input information encoding and that includes transformations of predecessor ones, of the miniparsers, wherein respective ones of the miniparsers are limited to particular subsets of syntactic constructs to be parsed in the input information encoding.

II. Amendment to the Title of the Invention

The following amendment was not authorized by the Applicant's representative.

The new title for the invention is as follows:

MODULAR PARSER ARCHITECTURE WITH MINI PARSERS INVOKED AS DIRECTED BY PRESENT SYNTAX OF SOURCE CODE

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 1, 13 and 23

As represented by the following:

Claim 1

A multipass parser implementation executing on a computer and stored on a computer readable medium comprising: plural miniparsers each successively operable on a respective abstract syntax tree that corresponds to an input information encoding and that includes transformations of predecessor ones, if any, of the miniparsers, wherein respective ones of the miniparsers are limited to particular subsets of syntactic constructs to be parsed in the input information encoding.

Claim 13

A method executing on a computer and stored on a computer readable medium of implementing a parser for an input information encoding, the method comprising: defining a succession of miniparsers each operable on a respective parse state resulting from a predecessor one of the miniparsers, wherein each of the miniparsers recognizes only a particular subset of syntactic constructs to be parsed in the input information encoding.

Claim 23

A method executing on a computer and stored on a computer readable medium of parsing an information encoding, the method comprising: performing plural successive transformations, each successive one of the transformations operating on an abstract syntax tree that is a result of a predecessor one of the transformations, each of the successive transformations handling only a subset of syntactic constructs to be recognized in the information encoding.

Statement for Allowance for Claims 1, 13 and 23

Applicant's argument that the prior art reference teaches languages such as C++ with embedded SQL. Each of these different languages would have their own separate Abstract Syntax Tree (AST). The parsing of these different languages is the basis of the modularization of the parser implementation. The claimed invention has one language and the parsing inherently produces a root node of the AST (A.K.A. parse tree) and then the additional mini parsers, parse the remaining arguments in the line of code with mini parsers based on the presence of additional arguments as encountered.

Allowance for claim 26

Claim 26 is represented by the following:

An apparatus comprising: encoded information on a computer readable medium and executing on a computer substantially in accordance with a grammar; multipass means for performing plural successive transformations on the encoded information, each successive transformation handling only a subset of syntactic constructs in accordance with the grammar.

Statement for Claim 26

Art Unit: 2193

In addition, to the reasons mentioned for independent claims 1, 13 and 23, the term substantially is not indefinite. Substantially meaning the syntax present invokes a mini parser.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
